1. Information from Boerse Stuttgart AG with Respect to the Xitaro Migration

Boerse Stuttgart AG has asked BrainTrade to forward the following information onto all XONTRO participants:

"As of September 28th, 2015, Boerse Stuttgart will launch in production a new exchange trading system named "Xitaro". Xitaro will be based on the NASDAQ solution "Genium INET".

The Stuttgart trading platform migration from XONTRO onto Xitaro will be done on this effective date to the full extent: For the Stuttgart Stock exchange, Friday, September 25th, 2015, will be the last exchange trading day using XONTRO. Beginning on Monday, September 28th, 2015, no further exchange trading session, and thus no further price fixing procedures, will take place in XONTRO for the Stuttgart Stock Exchange. Beginning at his date, all instruments at the Stuttgart Stock Exchange will be traded within the new system Xitaro. The Stuttgart Stock Exchange location will then neither be able to be accessed via the XONTRO infrastructure.

All information necessary for this conversion may be obtained by financial institutes, financial services providers, and software vendors, from Boerse Stuttgart. They may be reached via the Xitaro customer support, either by phone: +49 - (0)711 - 222 985 750, or by e-mail: xitarohelp@boerse-stuttgart.de.

Boerse Stuttgart strongly recommends for all trading members who have not yet started the conversion process to contact the Stuttgart Stock Exchange in due time, in order to arrange for the connection to the forthcoming Xitaro simulation environment within the current quarter of the year yet."

2. Stuttgart Trade Reference Number Range Split

In preparation of the migration described above, a split of the available trade reference number range will be required.

At present, within XONTRO the trade reference number range between 0,000,001 and 9,999,999 is used for trades having "Stuttgart" as their exchange trading place.

Beginning as of July 20th, 2015, and within the production environment (IMS1), XONTRO will only use the trade reference number range between 5,000,000 and 9,999,999.

This modification will become valid within the XONTRO test and simulation environment (IMS27) beginning as of April 27th, 2015.

In case of further questions or comments regarding the above issue, the XONTRO customers' service helpdesk will gladly accept you phone calls using the known telephone extension +49 - (0)69 - 58 99 78 - 110.
